

Integrated software platform

To ensure that all these solutions can be integrated, an integrated software platform is being developed as part of the project.

The key aims of the platform are to:

- * Integrate data from the different sources and provide the treatment required to meet the medical specifications.
- * Implement the applications for doctors (web applications)
- * Implement the applications for users (by giving them access to a summary of the data and more personalised advice)
- * Manage the hosting and the data streaming.
